

Troops Of UN Take Mountain Top Near 'Heartbreak Ridge'

By JOHN RANDOLPH
U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea—(P)—United Nations troops today captured a commanding peak west of "Heartbreak Ridge" on the rugged Eastern Korea front.

The mountain, like the ridge the Allies want so badly, looks down on a Communist supply and assembly base.

A U. N. unit battled to the mountain top, northwest of Yanggu, through intense mortar and small arms fire. It kicked an estimated two North Korean battalions off the peak in nearly three hours of fierce fighting.

Americans Weary

There was a comparative lull Tuesday around "Heartbreak Ridge," twice lost to counter-attacking Reds in 14 days of bitter fighting.

Grenade-tossing Communists drove U. S. troops off the highest peak on the ridge Monday for the second time in 10 days.

Weary American soldiers holed up on the steep slopes and repulsed three small Red probing attacks before dawn Tuesday. They reported that by Tuesday afternoon there had been no further contact with the Communists.

To the east, the 16-inch rifles of the battleship New Jersey pounded the Red line in the hills north of the Punchbowl, a one-time Communist assembly point.

Shells Score Hits

The one and one-quarter ton shells arched miles through the air. Dozens hit the heart of the Communist defenses on the northeastern front, the navy said. Observers called the results excellent.

The South Korean frigate Apnok was hit three times Monday in a duel with Red shore batteries on the East Korean coast. Three South Korean sailors were wounded and two were sent aboard the New Jersey for treatment.

Allied offensives that had won up to 15 miles of rugged ground in sectors along the mountainous eastern front apparent had ground to a halt.

Only patrol action was reported from the central and western fronts.

Unity With CIO Again Proposed At AFL Session

Green, 78, Back For His 28th Year

By HAROLD W. WARD
SAN FRANCISCO—(P)—The AFL was set today to elect 78-year-old Bill Green, one-time coal miner, to his 28th year in the presidency and to make a strong bid to the CIO to "come back home."

Delegates to the 70th convention sought to wind up by nightfall with a grand unity push and an invitation to the CIO to return to the federation it left in the big labor split of 1936.

Ready For Action

The subject of relations between the CIO and AFL is of prime importance to the 700 local and national labor leaders at the convention—but until today there had been little official attention to that.

Because of the importance of these relations in almost every community, it was possible that a big debate might break out when unity resolutions—put off until last—were called up for action.

Resolutions calling for unity with the CIO were ready for action. Delegates, feeling more confident than in many years over their bargaining position to bring back the junior federation, were expected to shout approval.

Both the AFL and CIO have standing committees authorized to negotiate a merger, but they haven't met for more than a year.

Leaders Crafty

That was part of the reason for the AFL leaders' sudden decision to break off the working relations of the ULPC—they realized that the CIO was winning its point that cooperation had to be established before merger would be possible.

The AFL has taken the opposite

Mayor Of Dearborn Piles Up Big Vote For Renomination

DETROIT—(P)—Dearborn Mayor Orville L. Hubbard piled up his largest primary vote yesterday to win renomination by a landslide.

Hubbard got 13,722 votes while his closest rival, Carl C. Matheny, registered 8,375 votes. Matheny will oppose Hubbard in the November election. The two men ran against each other two years ago.

Hubbard termed his lead, which topped the combined vote of four opponents, "another civic hypogermic."

Stalling Of Reds Chills Washington Hopes For Peace

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON—(P)—Top-level U. S. military and diplomatic leaders are watching the new Kaesong truce moves today with far less hope of a cease-fire agreement than held two months ago.

A cold appraisal of the Reds' stalling tactics in past weeks has just about smothered the optimism that crept into high places after Russia's Jacob Malik proposed the truce talks.

Early today, the Reds walked out on a meeting of U. N. and Communist liaison officers when the top U. N. officer suggested his Red counterpart lacked sufficient authority. The meeting was aimed at getting truce talks going again.

Still A Chance

Hope for a settlement hasn't been snuffed out entirely. Some think there is still a chance. But this hope is only a flickering flame in both the Pentagon and the state department.

This estimate is based on talks with persons close to the situation in both departments who are in a position to gauge the reactions to the Communists' moves in Korea.

When the peace talks began at Kaesong, there was considerable belief in high quarters the Chinese were sincere in wanting to call a halt to the shooting. Both Gen Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, were reported to be optimistic.

As late as August 20, Bradley said in a radio talk "We Americans are anticipating an armistice in Korea."

But the Reds broke off the conferences 30 days ago and followed with a series of bitter charges that the United Nations Allies had violated the Kaesong neutral zone.

Reds Not Sincere
Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's

Tokyo headquarters admitted after an exchange of heated notes that one B-26 plane had accidentally strayed the neutral zone.

During the past month, the initial optimism appears to have been replaced by a more cautious wait-and-see attitude. No one is certain just what the Reds are trying to do.

One general officer put it this way: "There certainly is no cause now for the optimism that existed when the talks began. The Reds have given us no indication of a real desire to call it quits."

"It looks like the word has come from Moscow to keep the talks going possibly as part of a new 'peace offensive' to throw us off guard."

Taft-Hartley Backers Put On AFL Purge List

SAN FRANCISCO—(P)—Nineteen U. S. senators, "the men who gave you Taft-Hartley," are on the 1952 purge list of the American Federation of Labor.

The AFL's 70th national convention yesterday named the 19 as chief targets for defeat in next year's elections. Of the 19, five are Democrats—all from the south.

The AFL plans an $8,000,000 '52 campaign fund by assessing its 8,000,000 members $1 each—and another $1,000,000 with a penny a month from each.

Here are the 19 as listed by Joseph D. Keenan, retiring director of the AFL's Labor League for political education:

Brewster (R-Maine), Flanders (R-Vt.), Martin (R-Vt.), Martin (R-Pa.), Smith (R-N. J.), Williams (R-Del.), O'Connor (D-Md.), Byrd (D-Va.), Connally (D-Tex.), Stennis (D-Miss.), Holland (D-Fla.).

Bricker (R-Ohio), Butler (R-Nebr.), Jenner (R-Ind.), Kem (R-Mo.), McCarthy (R-Wis.), Cain (R-Wash.), Epton (R-Mont.), Watkins (R-Utah), and Knowland (R-Calif.).

"These are the men that gave you the Taft-Hartley law," Keenan said.

Keenan called for special efforts to defeat the senators he named from the south—which he described as an anti-labor "breeding ground."

Saginaw Man Shoots Wife And Policeman, Then Kills Himself

SAGINAW, Mich.—An estranged husband shot and wounded his wife and her intended policeman guard last night and then killed himself.

The hospitalized officer was reported in danger today of losing his right arm. A blast from a 12-gauge shotgun had shattered his shoulder.

Goes Berserk

A downtown street was the scene of a violent few minutes. Kenneth Parks, 41-year-old factory worker, went berserk with the shotgun, witnesses said.

He shot his wife, Ruth, and then turned the gun on himself and fired a fatal charge into his stomach. Mrs. Parks was wounded in her foot.

As Parks lay dying in the street, Police, badly hurt, was trying vainly to make an intelligible report over his radio to headquarters.

A second patrol car dashed to the scene. An ambulance took the wounded to St. Mary's hospital. Enroute, it was sideswiped by another car but continued on.

As police recounted the story from bystanders, Parks evidently had lain in wait for his wife, a restaurant waitress, after she had spurned his demand that she return to him. He threatened suicide.

The childless couple, married about 15 years, had been separated for a month, friends said.

Calls for Escort

Mrs. Martha Dietzel, another waitress, said Mrs. Parks had expressed fear and called for a police escort to take her home.

"When the police car drove up, Ruth ran outside and I followed," Mrs. Dietzel said. "She ran around to the right side of the police car which was parked across the street."

"I saw her husband run into the street with a shotgun. Ruth ran all the way around the car. He shot her as she reached the front of the car. All he had to do was wait for her."

Patrolman Polzein leaped from the car and was shot at point blank range.

As Polzein tried to radio for help, Parks walked back to the center of the street and shot himself.

Moody Favors Airline To Link Two Peninsulas

WASHINGTON—(P)—Sen. Blair Moody (D-Mich) opposes renewal of Wisconsin-Central Airlines service between Chicago, Milwaukee and Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Moody testifying yesterday before the Civil Aeronautics Board, said direct air carrier service is needed to "merge the economic interests" of Michigan's Upper and Lower Peninsulas.

He contended that renewal of the Wisconsin-Central certificate would prevent federal authorization for the proposed Nationwide Airlines Service between Detroit and Escanaba-Marquette-Houghton.

Moody told the board that service to Upper Michigan by way of Milwaukee is "a new and unconscionable tax on the time as well as the purse of the people of Michigan." He said it would add travel time between the state's two land masses.

The Michigan senator added, "railways created economic interest between areas and air transportation is doing the same. That the federal government should prevent this process as between two parts of the state seems discriminatory and highly unfair."

Georgia Prison Badmen Escape

BUFORD, Ga.—(P)—State troopers and county officers, hampered by heavy rains during the night, kept a close watch on a wooded area today where six hardened criminals are believed hiding.

The six escaped from a work detail at Georgia's new $1,000,000 prison for incorrigibles yesterday. One was believed wounded by a hail of buckshot fired by guards.

State Patrol Capt. Paul Smith said he believed the desperadoes were still unarmed, but reports of stolen clothing in the area suggested they had discarded their prison garb.

The escapees included Spence Edwards, 25, who is serving life for the murder of Garland Fields, a Georgia bureau of investigation agent.

Two others are the Mauldin brothers, Roy, 31, and Joe, 27. Both were in for long terms for auto theft and burglary and both have made numerous breaks for freedom previously.

Ridgway Asks Communists To Try Once More

Efforts To Revive Truce Talks Slip

By DON HUTH
TOKYO—(P)—Communist officers angrily stalked out of a meeting today at Kaesong but Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway asked them to return tomorrow for another try at reviving the stalled Korean truce talks.

The Reds walked out when Allied liaison officers insisted on discussing conditions under which the truce talks could be resumed. The Allies earlier told the Reds that Kaesong was not a satisfactory site.

Violations Brought Up

The Communists wanted to get the truce talks going right away. But they demanded that the first session be given over to plans for processing a string of charges that the Allies had violated the neutrality of Kaesong.

Eight and one-half hours after the Reds stalked out of the Tuesday morning meeting, an Allied officer left the advance camp at Munsan with a message for the Reds.

He made the extraordinary night flight to Panmunjom, near Kaesong, by helicopter.

The message, signed by the senior Allied liaison officer, Col. Andrew J. Kinney, under instructions from Ridgway, said:

"Despite your unilateral action in recessing the meeting today and your abrupt departure therefrom, I am prepared to meet with you tomorrow x x x at 10 a. m. (8 p. m., EST, Tuesday) to discuss conditions mutually satisfactory for resumption of the armistice talks."

Back At Beginning

The talks have been stalled 38 days.

That word "conditions" left the situation just where it was when the Reds walked out on Tuesday's meeting.

The tense, 50 minute session ended with explosive suddenness.

Air Force Col. Andrew J. Kinney, senior Allied liaison officer, had proposed that both sides dis-

Father Killed In Caspian Mine

CASPIAN, Mich.—(P)—Pickands Mather Co. officials are investigating an iron mine shaft accident Saturday that killed a father of 11 children.

The victim was Albert Westphal, 46. Physicians said he died of a broken neck.

Westphal was killed when he reached out from a cage being lowered in the mine. Witnesses said he had signaled to be raised from the bottom of the mine but the cage was lowered instead.

Apparently fearing he might be drowned in water at the bottom of the shaft, Westphal reached out to grab a signal bell cord.

The company said a safety device stopped the cage at the moment of the accident. Ironically, there was no water in the shaft.

NAHMA—New owners will be welcomed at festivities

No 'Union Baiters' In Harnischfeger - Menck

"The Harnischfeger corporation, as such, never was and never will be a union baiting organization," Herman Menck of Milwaukee, vice president of Harnischfeger, yesterday told a joint meeting of Escanaba Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

"We were the first shop in Milwaukee to have a CIO union. We have had a contract with the union there for 13 years and we have never had one lost hour of work because of difficulties with the union," Menck continued.

Management, however, has its basic obligations and on those there can be no compromise, he added.

Honeymoon Is Over

Following his introduction by Howard L. Timms, Harnischfeger general manager in Escanaba, Menck commented wryly: "It is a pleasure to be applauded and not booed when I get up to speak."

Recalling his statement in Escanaba four years ago that Harnischfeger was 'glad to come here if conditions are reasonably right,' Menck likened the present labor difficulties of Harnischfeger in Escanaba to those that occur in marriage after the honeymoon is over.

"We came to Escanaba because either we wooed you or you wooed us. Now it is like a marriage where difficulties occur after the novelty wears off."

"I hope we can patch up our troubles, but I want to remind you that we do have divorces—and I hope this does not go that far," Menck said.

Plans For Escanaba

Harnischfeger has continuously enlarged its operations here and this year $12 million of the corporation's total $60 to $65 million in goods produced will be shipped from the Escanaba plant, Menck told the group.

New equipment continues to be installed and everything is being done to increase operations to the scope planned for Escanaba at a pace "faster than our fondest dreams," Menck advised. The company now employs 560 persons in Escanaba.

Ultimate plan of the company is to produce all of its small excavators in Escanaba which will require additional plant floor space and doubling of its present force of about 370 persons employed at the truck crane plant.

"This should prove to Escanaba that we are sincere in carrying out our part of the program," Menck said.

Lower Productivity

Escanaba has a limited source of skilled help and the company has had to carry on a training program for its employees, Menck pointed out.

Productivity is lower at the Escanaba plant than it is in Milwaukee but the company had expected that and conditions will improve here, Menck said. Some of this loss in productivity is the result of establishing of a new plant and problems of management, he added.

"The type of people we have in Escanaba is different than will be found in an established industrial area," Menck said in explanation. Many of the Escanaba employees had never before worked under the routine of industry and until they recognized that routine and restrictions are essential to operation they were inclined to a feeling of rebelliousness, Menck said.

Industry's Problems

Harnischfeger, while meeting the level of pay for the area, has not tried to "steal labor" from other industries in the community, Menck pointed out.

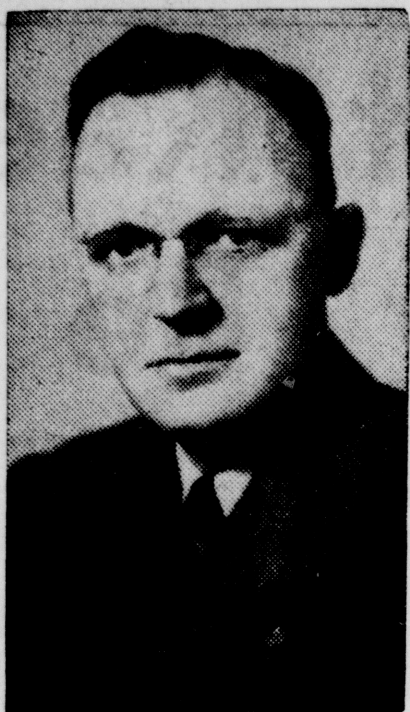

Citing industry's problems in a period of government control for national defense, Menck said "serious maladjustment" to industry must result in super-imposing the defense program over civilian production.

Answering critics who say industry is "lagging" in meeting the government's production schedule, Menck charged the government has failed to put on order the goods it says it needs. "Industry must know what the government wants," he said.

"Some nitwits in Washington" who have allocated twice as much steel and three times as much copper as the nation can produce are now saying industry is making a mess of utilization of materials, but the fault is not with industry, he added.

Can Do The Job

Harnischfeger once had about 15 employed in its purchasing department and now has 57—with most of the additional help at work trying to keep up with the flood of government regulations, the corporation's vice president said.

"For political reasons you have been told what industry is failing to do," Menck said. "But American industry produced well in World War II. Those industries are still here. They could do the job again if the government gave them the opportunity."

Menck said "regulation of industry by bureaucrats" has increased rather than decreased and he expressed the fear that "free enterprise will be turned over to government control and regulation."

Voicing a "layman's opinion" Menck urged strengthening of the nation's air force and said American divisions in Europe are "without adequate air protection."

Newspaper Expenses Force Increase In Advertising Rates

ST. LOUIS—(P)—Newspaper advertising rates must eventually be raised to meet growing economic pressure, the Institute of Newspaper Controllers and Finance Officers were told here.

T. F. Mowle, first vice president of the institute, and a delegate from the Wall Street Journal, cited the need for "more dollar revenue."

"Somehow," Mowle told a pre-convention reception, "the newspapers will have to obtain this additional revenue—and in a year or two."

Mowle indicated one of the chief drawbacks in the advertising picture: Newsprint and labor costs mount faster than newspapers are able, through contract, to boost advertising rates.

Forest Service Makes Changes

Road Survey Crew Transferred Here

Four members of the forest road survey staff will be transferred from the regional office of the U. S. Forest Service in Milwaukee to the Upper Michigan national forest headquarters at Escanaba next month, Supervisor Louis Harrison reports.

The transfer is a part of a decentralization program instituted by the Forest Service. Another change will be the assignment of the aerial photographic crew from Milwaukee to Park Falls, Wis.

The four men assigned to Escanaba are civil engineers and draftsmen. They will move their families to this city.

Potatoes, originally natives of Chile, still grow wild in that country.

Deer Poaching On Increase

Conservation Dept. Expands Patrol

An increase in illegal deer hunting this fall is being met by the state conservation department with an expansion of woods patrol activities, Supervisor John Christie reports.

District headquarters at Escanaba are being kept open day and night to furnish communications service to conservation officers on patrol in the backwoods areas.

The high price of meats has been blamed for the increase in deer poaching. The legal deer hunting season will not open until Nov. 15.

The season on grouse and other upland game will open on Oct. 1 and on migratory waterfowl on Oct. 12.

Conservation officers report a satisfactory supply of sharptailed and ruffed grouse. Thick foliage in some areas might interfere with hunting success at the start of the season, however, they pointed out.

Educators Find Out What Parents Think Of Public Schools

LANSING—(AP)—What do parents think of the schooling their children are receiving in Michigan public schools?

Along with a lot of educators, the state department of public instruction would like to find out.

So the department today released the text of a carefully drawn questionnaire which local school systems may use if they desire.

They Pay The Bills

If sufficient usage develops to indicate a proper cross-section results of the survey will be made public—without mentioning any names, says Dr. Lee M. Thurston, state superintendent.

Pointing to the growing controversy over the efficiency of the present day public education, Dr. Thurston said educators want to know how well their efforts are being received by the public and parents in particular.

"Even though some may feel that the parents are wrong or misinformed," Dr. Thurston said, "if the parents do not like the kind of education their children are getting the educator must review his position."

"We want to know whether school men are getting to far away from the people who pay the bills."

The questionnaires, which will be made available to local school systems at low cost, were developed by the committee on education

No Licenses Sold At Conservation Office

School Survey Group Meets

Co-Chairmen Named For Area Study

Co-chairmen on sub-committees on transportation, curriculum and physical plant were appointed at a meeting of the school study committee's planning group held last night at the office of Hagle Quarnstrom, Delta county school superintendent.

The appointments follow:

Transportation—Clarence Anderson, Bark River, chairman; and Don Kickbush, Cornell, co-chairman.

Curriculum—Mrs. Murray Cole, Rapid River, chairman; and William Anderson, Escanaba, co-chairman.

Physical plant—Norman Dahlke, Ford River, chairman; and Mrs. Wilfred Nichols, Wells, co-chairman.

The planning group will meet with the co-chairman at the Delta hotel at 7 Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, to appoint other members of the three committees.

Get Advice Before Wrapping Packages For Overseas Mail

Persons planning to mail parcels to Army Post Office (APO) addresses overseas are asked to inquire first at their local post office concerning regulations, suggests Escanaba Postmaster Regina W. Cleary.

Parcels or some APO's require custom declarations, others restrict the weight, and others prohibit tobacco or tobacco products.

The list of restrictions and prohibitions is long and the postmaster suggests that persons contemplating mailing such parcels first inquire at the post office. In this way misunderstanding and rewrapping of the package will be avoided.

The postmaster also pointed out that persons who are "stocking up" on one cent postcards in event the rate is increased will have to attach an additional one cent stamp on the cards if the rate for such cards is increased to two cents.

High Welfare Costs In Delta County Are Real, Not Imaginary

THE Delta county social welfare board has challenged the accuracy of figures presented in the Escanaba Press news articles of direct relief costs in Delta county. The welfare board contends that the county's expenditures for direct relief, hospitalization and administration have been grouped together and the total charged to direct relief alone.

The figures quoted by the Escanaba Press were taken directly from the state report on social welfare costs. The state gets its information of local welfare expenditures from each of the county welfare boards.

The same standards used to measure Delta county expenditures likewise were used to measure the expenditures of other counties in the state. And on this basis, Delta county's expenses in July of this year charged by the state to direct relief were the sixth highest in the entire 83 counties of Michigan. They were higher even than Kent county which includes the city of Grand Rapids, second largest city

Voters Won't Reject Gas Tax Increase

IF a referendum is held in Michigan on the one cent and a half per gallon gasoline tax increase that went into effect last June, the voters of the state will approve the tax boost if they fully understand what it means in better state and county roads and city streets.

The tax increase does not work a hardship on motorists of Michigan. The average motorist drives less than 15,000 miles per year and the total cost to him of the tax increase is less than $15 for the entire year. He pays a few pennies at a time when he has his gasoline tank filled.

The gasoline tax increase is important to the motorists of Michigan, however, because it guarantees that sufficient funds will be available to finance the maintenance of existing roads and the construction of new ones. It means that county roads, now in deplorable condition throughout the state, can be reconstructed and that funds will be available for snow removal. It means that cities will have money needed for street improvements and for handling increased traffic.

The truck companies pay a substantial portion of the new highway tax. That is fair because the big trucks are a main cause of highway deterioration.

There has been a lot of political sniping at the gasoline tax increase but the motorists of Michigan know that good roads cost money, but bad roads cost even more.

Wanted—A Genius For Socialism

A few years ago the people of England were sold the idea that government was a far more efficient manager of industrial enterprise than private citizens. Since then, England has become a socialized state and the theory of the superiority of the state as a producer within the framework of democratic government has been put to the acid test. The result has been tragically disillusioning. In the words of Bernard Harris, writing in the Sunday Express, London, England, "Socialization has failed. . . because the genius who might make it work can't be found."

The people of England are discovering that governments are run by ordinary men with no greater capacities for pulling rabbits out of hats than the rest of us. They have also found that as a producer, government is utterly incompetent measured by the standards of free enterprise.

All through the ranks of socialized British industry the story is the same — deterioration. According to the Express, coal now costs between two and three times as much as it did before the war. It is of poorer quality. Even with higher prices coal production is falling and the industry is running at a loss. State transport finished the year with a heavy deficit and poor service. The state directors of the gas and electric industries are in trouble too. They forecast higher charges and power cuts that will go on for years. They complain of the high ash content in the coal and charge their near neighbor, the government-run railroads, with profiteering. The nationalized airline and cable industries are, no better off. Deficits and poor service apparently plague virtually every commercial activity in which the government has become involved—with taxpayers and consumers footing the bill.

"It is one of the defects of socialization," concludes the Express, "that you can't always give the important jobs to the men best fitted by experience for them. The waiting queue is always a long one, and too often men have to be selected for reasons other than competence." Even if the genius could be found who might make socialism work, it would be most unlikely that he would get the job.

Birthdays

I remember, as a child, that birthdays seemed so far apart, and for each year's celebration I would yearn with all my heart. I remember how I couldn't wait to see my birthday cake, which with lots of other special things, my mother used to bake. And I still can feel the super thrill that comes to every tyke, when his birthday present is, at last, a brand-new shiny bike.

But when birthdays come around today, they cause me much dismay, for it seems as if the one before was only yesterday. It is true I like the greetings which my family extends, and the best of birthday wishes I receive from all my friends, but I'm then inclined to shake my head and say it is a crime, how the years go mounting higher in the fleeting rush of time.

So each year when comes my birthday, I demand to be consoled, and to hear my loved ones say, "Now look, you're not so very old." But although I will agree with them, I know it is the truth, that I cannot trade a single thing for a dash of youth. And where toys and bikes were once my dish as birthday gifts supreme, now I'm just a bedroom slipper man who dreams a youthful dream.

Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON—The month of September and early October when the harvest is in is the time when the chancelleries and general staffs of Europe watch closest for signs of war. If Europe can get by this period of dry, mild weather before winter bogs down an attacking army, they figure there will be no danger of war at least until June.

Top U. S. officials, likewise, have made all-important surveys of the war possibility, and it is possible for this column to report what their general conclusions are:

1. Russia will not launch World War III this year. However, Russia is expected to continue pressing war by satellites.

2. China, not Russia, has been more eager for a truce. The U. S. war study indicates that Russia came out with the truce proposal chiefly for propaganda purposes; perhaps to stall for time in order to get new arms to Korea.

3. Next step in Communist aggression is likely to be Burma, Thailand, and Indo-China. This area is all-important to the Kremlin if the millions of China are to have rice. Moscow would probably gamble on starting World War III in these countries, though she doesn't actually want it.

4. In Iran the Russians will probably march into the northern province of Azerbaijan and take it by force—if the British go into Southern Iran to protect their oil refinery. Here again the Russians are willing to gamble that the West will not go to war over Iran.

5. In Germany, the U. S. analysis does not anticipate a Russian military move, but does foresee a continual Army build-up.

Moscow's biggest drive will be pressure through local governments to stop the building of U. S. air bases in Europe and North Africa.

BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN

Increasing evidence is coming back from inside the Iron Curtain to show that the freedom-friendship balloons and other activities of the crusade for freedom have really got under the Kremlin's skin.

In East Bohemia, for instance, fields where the balloon messages fell were declared "off-limits" to farm workers by security sections of the national Communist committee. In another section of Bohemia, Communist officials offered rewards to the teams of youth brigades who collected the largest number of friendship leaflets.

Near the Czech-Austrian border, a patrol of border police reported "voluminous flying objects" which might be enemy paratroopers. When Prague got the report, it dispatched tank units amid great excitement.

The flying objects, however, turned out to be pillow balloons with the word "Svoboda"—written on them in large letters. They were bouncing along the ground in the early morning twilight like miniature flying saucers. Inside of them, of course, were friendship messages from the American people to the people of Czechoslovakia.

This is an illustration of how the American people, usually ahead of their government, have begun to penetrate the Iron Curtain on their own, at the same time aged senators have drastically and dangerously curtailed the state department budget for winning friends and influencing people.

Note: The crusade for freedom is headed by Gen. Lucius Clay and supported by Americans of all walks of life from General Eisenhower to Dan Tobin, head of the Teamsters Union; Bill Green, head of the A. F. of L., and James Carey, secretary of the CIO.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS

Cleveland: The lovely motion picture, "The Great Caruso," has created a new interest in opera for us. Our study club has voted to base our course of study for next year on some of the best-known operas, but we want to be able to pronounce them correctly. Will you show us, by means of your easy phonetics how to pronounce the names of some of the most popular operas, together with their composers? Also, how does Mario Lanza pronounce his name. We're real fans, and we refuse to go along with the herd and say "mair-ee-oh LAN-zuh."

First, in a recent letter, Mr. Lanza tells me that he prefers the pronunciation: MAH-ree-oh LAHN-zah. Now for a few operas and composers (I'm sorry that space so limits the list): I Pagliacci ("The Players") is pronounced: ee pah-l-YAH-chee. Both words and music were composed by Ruggiero Leoncavallo: rood-JAIR-oh lay-OAN-kah-VAH'lo.

Il Traviatore ("The Troubadour"): ee TROE-vah-TOE'rah. Music was composed by Giuseppe Verdi: joo-ZEP-pay (almost: joo-ZEP-pay) VAIR-dee.

La Boheme ("The Bohemian Girl"): lah baw-EM ("h" is silent). Composer: Giacomo Puccini: JEE-ah-koe-moe (almost: JAH-koe-moe) poot-CHEE-nee.

Cavalleria Rusticana ("Rustic Chivalry"): KAH-vah-lay-REE ah ROOS-tee KAH-nue. Composer: Pietro Mascagni: PYEH-troe mahss-KAHN-yee.

Marriage de Figaro ("The Marriage of Figaro"): mah-ree-ahz duh fee-ga-roe. Music by Wolfgang Mozart: VOELF-gahng MOTE-sahrt.

Frank Colby's leaflet, C-11, "Lie-Lay, Sit-Set," makes these confusing wordpairs as simple as ABC. The non-technical key does the trick. For a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Mrs. Frank Colby, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Bridge of Sighs

Robert LeTourneau's Life Combines Evangelism With Earth-Moving Jobs

By DON WHARTON
(Condensed from The Rotarian by Readers Digest)

Robert Gilmour LeTourneau is an American phenomenon. A self-taught mechanical genius, he pioneered the mammoth earth-moving machines you see biting off hills and filling up valleys for dams, airports, army cantonments and express highways. His four bustling U. S. plants, together with one in Sydney, Australia, now build half of all earth-moving machinery produced in the world.

But LeTourneau has another interest, even deeper, more driving. That's his role as "God's businessman." Of the millions of dollars that have come to him, he has kept only a tiny fraction. In 1935 he contributed more than 96 percent of his worldly possessions to the LeTourneau Foundation, the world's largest exclusively religious foundation. "Not How Much of My Money Do I give to God—But How Much of God's Money Do I keep for Myself"—a motto hanging on his office wall—epitomizes his financial credo.

Worth about $13,000,000 the LeTourneau Foundation has assisted hundreds of young persons to prepare for missionary work. It supports ten evangelists, conducts religious training camps in Indiana, Georgia and New York, and owns radio stations in Toccoa, Georgia, and Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

During the past year LeTourneau has spoken 500 times in

WILL SPEAK HERE

Robert LeTourneau will speak in Escanaba Sept. 29 and 30 at a series of meetings sponsored by the Lake Superior Presbytery of Presbyterian churches and the Escanaba Ministerial association.

churches, over the radio, at public gatherings. He has three airplanes, and even in wartime shuttles back and forth all over the country to keep his appointments, usually flying 20,000 miles a month.

A jovial, stocky six-footer, LeTourneau works 16 hours a day. He dashes through his factories on a scooter to save time, and the time he saves is spent in developing new ideas or tackling old problems. On his only vacation—a trip to Honolulu with his wife—he passed the ten days of two-way air travel bent over a portable drafting board.

Born in Vermont

LeTourneau was born in 1888 at Richford, Vermont, shortly before his family moved to Portland, Oregon. It was a religious family. Three uncles, two aunts and two sisters were missionaries. Robert left school at 14, while still in the seventh grade, and got a job in a foundry. Four years later he took a wood-cutting contract in the San Joaquin Valley of California because he wanted to try out a theory he had evolved as to the value of part-time work, part-time study—now a feature of his factory program. All morning he slashed at cord wood; then spent the rest of the day slugging away at correspondence courses in algebra, geometry and mechanical engineering.

His profits from cutting wood bought a half interest in a small Stockton garage. While repairing automobiles he became so fascinated with an oxyacetylene welding torch that he used it on every possible repair job as well as to make plant fixtures and tools. "If Bob could manage it he'd weld the buttons on his pants," his friends used to say.

During the first World War, LeTourneau learned the electric machinist's trade at the Mare Island Navy Yard. Back in Stockton after the war he took up the repairing of tractors. Immediately tractors and earth-moving machines stamped his imagination, just as welding had done.

He bought a tractor, welded his own scraper together, and went into the land-leveling and road-building business. Until then all scrapers had been riveted, but his welded scraper proved cheaper, lighter, stronger, speedier and more durable. It so intrigued a rival contractor that he ordered one just like it. Instead, LeTourneau built a new and better one for himself and sold his old one. Repeating this performance for other eager purchasers, he soon had a production line in full swing.

But he was short of money and of help. Often his wife was sent scurrying out to find a badly needed part. One emergency order was halted because the young inventor ran out of welding rods and ready cash simultaneously. Remembering that the curtain rods in his home were bronze, he commandeered them to plug the production gap.

Builds First Plant

LeTourneau built his first plant in Stockton in 1921, and added two revolutionary developments in earth-carrying equipment. The first, a power-control unit run by one man, enabled his scrapers to combine the four earth-moving operations—loading, hauling, dumping and spreading. LeTourneau often tells how the inspiration for the power unit flashed into his mind after a Gospel mission meeting which he'd been tempted to pass up because of business.

His second major innovation resulted from the complaint of a contractor that his scraper's steel wheels cut into the sandy terrain he was trying to grade. LeTourneau sent him a smaller scraper hurriedly fitted with rubber-tired wheels. This worked so well that the contractor bought the machine on the spot, asked that the original scraper be rubber-tired, and ordered a third model—paying $25,000 for the three. All LeTourneau's machines thereafter had rubber tires, adding to their speed and maneuverability.

Moved to Peoria

In 1935 the company moved to Peoria, Illinois, as a more central distribution point. When LeTourneau and his staff arrived at the site they found the open field turned into a quagmire by a week's rain. There was no building in which to store the equipment, no crane to unload it, not even a railroad siding. LeTourneau met this situation with his customary determination.

"Let's get going!" he snapped—and he got going. He sketched on paper a design for a crane. Next morning welders were fashioning steel according to these plans. That 12-ton traveling crane is still in use. Unloading started, and the sparks of the welding arcs began to fly. A siding was laid, an open-air production line set up, a 100-by-300-foot plant constructed and 13 large scrapers manufactured—all in one month.

Today the company turns out mechanical monsters with such names as "Carry-all" scrapers, angledozers, bulldozers, rotozers, pushdozers and sheep-foot rollers. Other machines are called after their inventor: Tournapulls, Tournatrailers, Tournacranes. In 1942, sales topped $30,000,000 and are now running close to $40,000,000. LeTourneau machines do earth-moving jobs ten to 20 times faster and 75 percent cheaper than by previous methods. His masterpiece is a power unit that scrapes up 180,000 pounds of dirt at a single bite and pushes it along at 20 miles an hour.

Yours sincerely,
Robert Anderson,
Route 1, Escanaba.

ECONOMIC FUTURE—The economic future of the Upper Peninsula may rise or fall according to the success or failure of management and labor in working out mutually satisfactory relations.

This observation is based on a number of factors, all of which should be considered by labor and management in meeting the challenge of conditions as they are—not as one might wish them to be.

Both management and labor are under pressures which must be carefully studied for their effect upon each other, and upon the whole economic structure of the Upper Peninsula.

In addition, the region itself has advantages, disadvantages and peculiarities vitally important in understanding the problem.

LABOR RELATIONS—Cooperatively helpful labor relations, assuring efficient production and steady employment, is a goal of paramount importance to labor and management in the Upper Peninsula.

Willingness to discuss differences, to sit down and talk it over until a reasonably satisfactory solution to the difference is achieved, should be the goal.

Hasty or thoughtless decisions by leadership breed distrust; suspicion distorts even slight differences into seemingly important problems; and complete misunderstanding destroys any possibility of solution.

There is too much at stake for both labor and management in the Upper Peninsula to allow breeding ground for bitterness and misunderstanding.

REGIONAL PROBLEMS—Without question the Upper Peninsula is a problem region for many industries—largely because of its geography and undeveloped power resources.

The U. P.'s geographical location places it in one of the higher freight rate regions of the United States—and freight rates have increased rapidly in less than a decade.

Power to turn the wheels of industry in the Upper Peninsula is not cheap and the rates are expected to go higher—unless hydroelectric development projects are undertaken.

The decentralization of industry has come to a halt. The federal government's loan plan for construction of plants for national defense production (with five years for amortization of the loan) will not bring new industries to the U. P.

COOPERATIVE GOALS—Granting that exceptions can be found, and citing the recent announcement that American Play-ground Device company has purchased Bay de Noquet property and will locate a plant at Nahma, will not change the conclusion that location of new industries in the Upper Peninsula can no longer be considered a goal in itself. It is time now for cooperative action that will assure the U. P. in keeping what it has.

Lower transportation costs might be achieved for industry by greater utilization of Great Lakes cargo carriers. Perhaps lakes ports, such as Escanaba, could assist by providing the necessary freight dock facilities. The idea is not new. Escanaba once had a thriving Merchant's Dock that served the business and industrial interests of the area.

More and cheaper electric power for industries is essential in the region. Power development takes years to accomplish. Planning at least should be undertaken now and preferably by private interests. If they delay or fail in action, there are public agencies always waiting for such opportunities.

Management, labor, government—cooperatively they can work together to bring economic security to a region that in the past decade saw alarming losses in population and industry.

Walkie-Talkie Is Streamlined

CAMDEN, N. J. — (AP) — The walkie-talkie has been streamlined for the Signal Corps by the Radio Corporation of American to half its former size and weight and made to double its range, now five miles.

From 55 pounds the walkie-talkie has been scaled down to a mere 25 pounds for a complete set that includes batteries, handset, antennas and spare parts. The transmitter — received unit alone tips the scales at only nine pounds.

The "shrunk" walkie-talkie has electron tubes half the size of a cigaret, tuning coils smaller in diameter than a dime, capsule-size transformers, resistors the diameter of a safety match tip.

Snoring Is An Inheritance In The Clan Of Boyle

By MAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — Sometime in the middle of the night I heard my wife call sharply from her twin bed:

"Turn over on your side, Rover."

I saluted drowsily in the darkness, and carried out her order. Several times more before dawn came I heard her call across: "Turn on your left side. Turn on your right side." And once, I dimly recall, she said in utter exasperation:

"I give up. For heaven's sake, stand on your head!"

At the breakfast table this morning, I noticed Frances had circles under her eyes, and asked if she hadn't slept well.

"Sleep," she said indignantly. "I didn't get a wink all night long. You snored so loud I couldn't."

"Probably because I was sleeping on my back," I mumbled. "Why didn't you turn me over?"

"Turn you over?" she demanded.

Siamese Twins Born At Rock Island, Ill. Can't Be Separated

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. — (AP) — It may be impossible to separate Rock Island's Siamese twins, born Sept. 16 joined at the tops of their skulls.

Doctors studied x-ray pictures of the tiny boys and said that an operation to sever the fibrous matter which connects the youngsters might be fatal to one or both of them.

Further x-rays will be made after injection of a dye solution into the babies' blood streams.

The parents of the children, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie, said that if separation would result in death for either of the babies, they would prefer not to permit the operation.

ed. "I had you spinning like a top —you, you human flapjack. You flopped about like a fish—but you kept right on snoring. I don't know what to do with you."

A Family Trait
She looked so depressed that I didn't have the heart to tell her the full truth. She doesn't know yet what she's really up against. For the terrible Boyle family curse has struck again! The curse that runs in our tribe is snoring. Sooner or later it strikes us all—man, woman, or child. And there is no known cure.

No one knows how long this dark and noisy affliction has been in our clan. But grandfather Boyle brought it over from Ireland with him. And it has raged unchecked for at least three generations since then.

It seems to predominate on the male side, but once it breaks out in a family there is nothing but

Every breath of
VICKS VAPORUB
IN STEAM
relieves croupy
night coughs of colds

Special medicated steam brings soothing DEEP-ACTION RELIEF

Now those croupy, coughing spells that attack children without warning are relieved so fast with this home-proved treatment . . . two heaping spoonfuls of Vicks VapoRub in a vaporizer or bowl of boiling water as directed in package.

It's easy, too . . . Your little one just breathes in the steam. Every breath carries VapoRub's relief-giving medications deep into troubled throat and large bronchial tubes. There this wonderful treatment medicates and soothes dry, irritated membranes, eases away coughing, helps restore normal breathing. And real comfort comes in no time at all.

For coughing spasms, upper bronchial congestion and that choked-up feeling caused by colds, there's nothing like using Vicks VapoRub in steam.

And always rub it on for continued relief
To insure continued action, always rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back. Works for hours — even while your child sleeps — to relieve distress. It's the best-known home remedy you can use when any cold strikes a child or grown-up.

insomnia for the others until they, too, catch the ailment in time. Then, as the matching snores rise up and smash echoing waves in the darkness, peace comes again to all.

Women who have married into our family have tried everything to break up this snoring. But in the end the only way they have found rest is to take up the habit themselves.

Cousin "Marble Mouth"
There was the case of cousin "Marble Mouth" Boyle, as we call him. His frau put marbles in his mouth to stop his snoring. It worked for a week, but then a strange series of squeaks and grinding noises began coming from him. He was snoring again! The only net result was that when she took out the marbles, he got insomnia. And for the rest of his life he had to sleep with his mouth full of marbles.

The wife of another cousin of mine once took up needlepoint at night because of her husband's snoring. She eventually did the whole history of the Civil War in needlepoint before she finally discovered how to snore herself.

Poor Frances. She doesn't know yet what she's in for. I'm buying her a pair of earmuffs and a book on insomnia. But these are only stopgap measures. What she'll really need is a book on "How to learn to snore in self-defense." It's the only way a girl can really protect herself, once her husband takes up snoring in earnest.

THERE'S AN AWFUL LOT of rheumatism and arthritis in Michigan, and more and more people are getting good results with O-JIB-WA BITTERS. Read the words of Mr. Henry B. Jordan of Chase, Michigan, about his recent experience with this wonderful medicine.

"I desire to recommend O-JIB-WA BITTERS to all who suffer with rheumatism and arthritis, as it certainly helped me in every way. I had rheumatism in my legs so bad that I could hardly get up or down. The cords in the back of my legs would bunch up like hickory nuts and my arms would ache so I would break out in a sweat. For four months I didn't even get out of bed and the pain was so terrible it was hard to sleep. My druggist recommended O-JIB-WA BITTERS very highly, so I decided to try it. After using it about a week, I began to see a slight improvement. Altogether I have taken three large bottles and I am better in every way. I haven't an ache or pain in my body and have enjoyed perfect health ever since. I thank God for this wonderful all herb medicine and what it has done for me. I offer this testimonial in hopes it will help others, so please feel free to use it any way you wish."

"TABLE TALK" worn by Mrs. G. E. Christie was roundly applauded by the spectators and received the award for the most original chapeau.

THE VEGETABLES which adorned the hat "Autumn Harvest" designed by Mrs. Jack Sprague, received the award for "most grotesque" although rightly the classification should have been changed to "most clever."

THE FUNNIEST MAT OF ALL was "Tin Roof" an original design by Mrs. John R. Tornberg made entirely of tin cans. The judges had little trouble deciding on this one. (Escanaba Daily Press Photos)

We don't know everything, but—

Only a few decades ago most people thought that everything would soon be known; that everything would be discovered; and that all scientific data would be recorded in its proper place. The fallacy of this has become evident. The more people know and learn, the greater becomes the unknown. When compared with the sum total of all knowledge, pharmaceutical knowledge seems insignificant indeed. However, when a prescription must be compounded to restore health or to save life, pharmaceutical knowledge surpasses all other things in importance. We are not omniscient, but when it's medicine you need we are prepared to meet every emergency.

It's Sad But True

If you deal with the non-established, itinerant type of door-to-door photographers that are now canvassing Escanaba . . . You're apt to be sorry about the results.

Be on your guard and wary of anyone offering the following:

- "SPECIAL ENLARGEMENTS" — Your picture may be sent to you glued in a glass frame and that will cost you money.
- "FREE PHOTOGRAPHS" — Just try to order one absolutely free photograph! (No one is in business for the fun of it.)
- "C.O.D. SPECIALS" — Pictures probably won't be as represented and after you've paid for them, what can you do about it?
- "SMALL DEPOSIT ORDERS" — Your pictures may never arrive and your money will be lost.
- "COPIES FROM OLD PRINTS" — Look out for your original copies, it will probably cost you money to get them back.

So Be Wise:

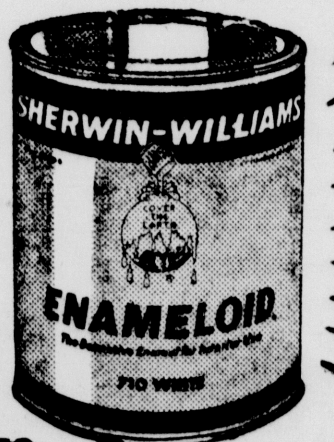

"Don't Expect Something For Nothing!"
Especially From Strangers

Your local photographer is licensed and stands behind his work. It always pays to deal with locally established and reputable businesses . . . It will save you money in the end.

Bob Ruark Says Hollywood Divorce And Brawl News Tiresome

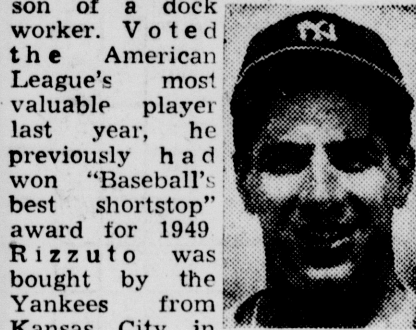

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—Freddie Othman, writing out of Rome, said a thing the other day that might make some of our papers stop and think a little. He said a tout approached him to find out if Freddie wished to interview Lucky Luciano—a paid public relationist. Freddie said no, he was not interested in contributing to the cleanup of a dope peddler. Then the guy tried to sell him on Ingrid Bergman. Othman said he had already done the piece, and doubted if anybody cared much what the great love slave thought about anything today.

Which leads me to the idea that we have lately been making a great thing of sordidness, one way or the other, among the cheap and the publicity hungry. Names make news, but I am going to throw up if I have to see another

'Skippers' Not Most Costly For Hotels

NEW YORK—(AP)—The average person thinks that the largest yearly loss a hotel sustains is from "skippers"—a name given to those who leave a hotel without paying bill. This is not true. According to figures just released by one New York hotel, which depends on tourists for 90 per cent of its business (the Hotel Edison) losses from "skippers" is a quarter of 1 per cent.

Hotels lose more than that on people taking linens, towels, and knick-knacks in the room.

Court Jury Is Dismissed

Two Pleas Of Guilty Taken

The jury for the September term of circuit court was ordered dismissed yesterday afternoon following a review of the docket by Judge Herbert W. Runnels.

Jurors had been directed to report for duty at 10 a. m. this morning.

Pleas of guilty were entered in two criminal cases, but the passing of sentence was deferred until later during the session. Those who pleaded guilty were Abe Martin, desertion, and Albert J. Gerou, driving away an automobile without the consent of the owner.

In the case of James Earl Lytle, charged with breaking and entering in the night time with intent to commit rape, Prosecuting Attorney William J. Sheahan told the court that he would prepare a petition and order for additional psychiatric observation of the defendant at a state hospital in Traverse City.

The order and petition were to be offered in court today. Sheahan said that the additional observation had been recommended by psychiatrists at the Newberry state hospital where Lytle had been examined previously to the September term.

It also was reported that Lytle had retained counsel.

Two civil motions were declared ready for argument before the court several were continued and in another it was stated that judgment would be rendered today.

At a late hour yesterday afternoon no review of chancery actions on the calendar had been made.

At least two of the undefeated football teams in the Upper Peninsula will be eliminated next weekend. . . . Escanaba entertains Menominee and Ontonagon will be at Wakefield in games involving four of the 10 unbeaten clubs above the Straits. . . . With Wakefield and Ontonagon in class C, the Menominee-Escanaba clash qualifies as the "game of the week". . . . Iron Mountain was spared from the undefeated list Saturday by a 7-6 loss to Stambaugh. . . . Menominee, by the way, has one of the two uncrossed goal lines in the Peninsula. . . . Coach Jerry Anzalone's Tigers at Powers-Spalding have the other.

Menominee did not come out of the 32-0 Calumet win unscathed. . . . Roy Bentley, speedy little back who ran a kickoff 91 yards for a touchdown against Merrill, suffered a dislocated shoulder and will be out for several weeks. . . . Johnny Moerchen attempted a 32-yard field goal in the Calumet game but it was short of the cross bar. . . . Loren Wall, left halfback, has been especially dangerous in the Maroon backfield. . . . He's fast and a powerful runner. . . . Dick Christopherson, fullback, is built along the lines of Escanaba's Cap Bartley and is a strong runner. . . . Wayne Ewald operates at the key quarterback post.

The Eskimos have racked up 106 points in their three games to date. . . . End Paul Gunderman leads in the scoring column with 25 points. . . . Bartley has 18, Paul Baldwin and Tom Smith 12 each, JoJo Johnston eight, Dick Carlson seven and Bill Fallmer, Bill Peltier, Tom Bourke and Charlie Bellefeuille six each. . . . Bourke suffered a possible jaw fracture in the game Saturday.

When we referred to undefeated U. P. teams above we included Wakefield, although the Cardinals have been beaten once this season. . . . That was in their opening clash with Hurley in which the Midgents won 14-8. . . . The Upper Peninsula Sports Writers association last year voted to discount U. P. losses out of the state when considering candidates for the Peninsula grid championship and the Barber trophy.

Pep Can Set Ring Record

NEW YORK — (AP) — Willie Pep can become the first boxer to wear the same crown three times if he defeats featherweight champion Sandy Saddler in their fourth title bout tomorrow night at the Polo grounds.

The crafty Hartford fighter held the championship from 1944 to Oct. 29, 1948 when Saddler scored a jolting upset by knocking Pep out in the fourth round at Madison Square Garden.

Pep bounced back on Feb. 11, 1949 and outpointed Saddler in a 15-round bout at the Garden to regain the title.

Yankee stadium was the scene of their last match on Sept. 8, 1950 and Saddler again dethroned wily Willie on an eight-round TKO. A shoulder injury forced Pep to quit, although he was ahead in rounds on most scoreboards.

Missing Minoso Indian Error?

Tribe Has Pitching But Lacks Batters

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, who have three 20-game winning pitchers and a fourth with 17, probably are wondering about now just what it takes to capture the American league pennant.

Maybe, it's Minnie Minoso. You'll recall that this mercurial Cuban Negro came to the Chicago White Sox from the Indians April 30 in a three-club swap which landed the Philadelphia Athletics' lefty hurler, Lou Brissie, at Cleveland.

At the time, Tribe Manager Al Lopez figured he needed a reliever more than an offensive spark.

Giants, Indians And Bosox Wait For Baseball Miracle

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Three teams today are waiting for a miracle to take place—for only by such a phenomenon can the New York Giants, Cleveland Indians or Boston Red Sox win a pennant.

Leo Durocher and his Giants apparently believe in miracles. They are staying stubbornly alive when they must know they should be dead.

Yesterday, while Brooklyn Manager Charlie Dressen was announcing Preacher Roe as his pitcher in the world series opener, the relentless Giants chipped another half game off the Dodgers' National league lead with a 4-3 triumph over the Boston Braves. All other teams were idle.

Brooklyn now leads New York by two and a half games, its smallest margin since the opening week of the campaign. Since started their frantic and seemingly hopeless chase on Aug. 16, they have chopped 11 games from the Dodgers' once huge lead. The Giants have won 33 of 40 since then for an amazing .825 gain.

The Giants' victory left the clinching combination for the Dodgers at four. Brooklyn has seven more to play, four in Boston and three in Philadelphia. A two-inning twin bill in Boston is on tap for tonight. The Giants' four remaining games are divid-

Ten Teams Undefeated In U. P. Grid Circles

Ten Upper Peninsula high schools enter the fifth week of the football season with undefeated records in games played within the state.

The list was whittled from 11 Saturday afternoon when Stambaugh bounced the Iron Mountain Mountaineers from the unbeaten list with a 7-6 loss. Wakefield is included in the list although the Cards were defeated 14-6 by the Hurley, Wis. Midgents in the season opener.

Spartans Get Early Work For Wolverines Saturday

EAST LANSING — (AP) — "You can't stop around this week and expect to win from Michigan," Coach Biggie Munn warned his Michigan State football squad as he pointed for Saturday's game at Ann Arbor.

To emphasize that work was in order, Munn conducted a scrimmage late Monday afternoon—the first Monday-after-a-game scrimmage that newsmen remember since Munn has taken over the Spartans.

Munn worked his regulars hard at it for about 45 minutes. And one casualty resulted that could be serious.

Leg Injury

Jack Morgan, the first string, 225-pound defensive tackle from Detroit, went down in a pileup and had to be helped off the field with an injured right leg.

Dr. Charles F. Holland, team physician, said X-rays showed Morgan had fractured the fibula (the small bone) in his right leg between the ankle and the knee. Dr. Holland said the leg would be in a cast for about four weeks and that Morgan probably would be out for the season.

Hockey Star Is New Denver Coach

DENVER — (AP) — Youthful Neil Celley, former University of Michigan hockey star, was named the new hockey coach at the University of Denver yesterday.

The 24-year-old Eveleth, Minn., resident arrived here from the Detroit Redwings' training camp at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Former Coach Vern Turner will devote his full time to duties as rink manager.

Celley will study for a masters degree in education administration at Denver.

Milwaukee Moves Into Little World Series

MONTREAL — (AP) — Milwaukee and Montreal open baseball's 1951 Little World Series tomorrow night.

The annual battle between the playoff winners in the American Association and the International league had added distinction this year because the two clubs also are the pennant winners in their respective leagues.

Milwaukee jumped into the junior world series last night with a decisive 17-2 triumph over St. Paul to win the association final playoff round, four games to two. Montreal's Royals won the International league berth from Syracuse, 4-1, scoring the final victory Friday night.

Porterfield owns a pair of three-hit victories over the Yankees and Indians.

A two-out single by Eddie Stanky in the last of the ninth drove in Davey Williams with the third that gave the Giants their third victory over the Braves in as many days. It was the Giants' last home game of the season.

Little League Dinner Tonight

The first season of Little League baseball comes to an official close this evening with an appreciation banquet for the youthful players at the House of Ludington at 6:45.

Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the dinner will feature the Escanaba youngsters who captured the Michigan state Little League crown in a tournament at Midland. The Escanaba team entered the sectional tournament at Ft. Wayne, Ind., but lost its first game to the eventual tournament champions.

Blaney Cubs Capture Central Loop Crown

GULLIVER — The Blaney Cubs annexed the championship of the U. P. Central League Sunday afternoon by trimming Grand Marais, 5-1, in the second of a three game series. The game was played on the Grand Marais diamond.

Blaney lost only one game during the season.

Buckeyes Want Wet Field On Saturday

COLUMBUS, O. — (AP) — Ohio State's gridgers, who dropped the 1950 finale to Michigan in a blizzard, are hoping for rain for Saturday's opener with Southern Methodist.

Coach Wayne Woodrow (Woody) Hayes, making his debut at the Buckeye helm, is convinced a steady downpour would be a pretty fair defense against the passing prowess of long Fred Benners, ace pitcher of the Mustangs.

Batting Crowns About Clinched

Fain, Musial Have Comfortable Leads

CHICAGO — (AP) — Ferris Fain, Philadelphia's first baseman, appears to have sewed up the 1951 American league batting championship.

In averages through Sunday's games, the 29-year-old Fain, who batted .282 last season, had boosted his average to .347 for a 22 point spread over Chicago's Minnie Minoso.

George Kell of Detroit, second last week, skidded to fourth place with a six-point drop.

Big Ten Grid Coaches Singing Early Blues

CHICAGO — (AP) — With only four days to go before the Big Ten football season starts, most coaches have let out the familiar cry of needing more speed, more experience, more depth of material, etc.

Such sounding off in the face of Saturday's opening games is only natural, and in many cases is justified.

It is like a breath of fresh air to get an admission that a team shapes up pretty good. The only new coach in the conference, Ohio State's Woody Hayes, arises to the occasion.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting—Eddie Stanky, Giants—his single with two out in the bottom of the ninth scored Davey Williams from second and gave the Giants a 4-3 victory over the Boston Braves.

Pitching—Dave Kossio, Giants—relied starter Sheldon Jones in the sixth, stemmed a Boston rally, and allowed only two hits and no runs in three and a third innings to gain credit for the Giants' 4-3 win over the Braves.

Tone Suggests Jail For Rival

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Franchot Tone has made it plain that he wants his rival for the hand and heart of actress Barbara Payton put behind bars.

Tone and Miss Payton conferred yesterday with Dist. Atty. S. Ernest Roll. Tone told of the severe beating he was given the night of Sept. 14 by Actor Tom Neal. Miss Payton, who has been engaged at various times to Tone and Neal, corroborated Tone's story of what happened.

Miss Payton told the district attorney of seeing Tone "flying through the air" and Tone's head bobbing up and down as he was struck blow after blow.

Roll was asked if he felt a felony complaint was justified. He said he could not answer that question "but Tone took a whale of a beating."

Tone's face showed no scars of the battle but he'll have to stay in the hospital for a few days more.

Emil F. Bruce Of Arnold Dies Of Heart Attack

Emil Francis Bruce, 57, a resident of Arnold, died this morning in an ambulance as he was being taken to St. Francis hospital, following a heart attack.

Mr. Bruce, who was a woodsman, was born in Marinette September 31, 1893. He lived in Bark River until he was 19 years old. He was a veteran of World War I, serving with Co. D of the 337th Infantry, after entering the service September 20, 1917.

Surviving are his wife, Juanita, six sons, Dean of Milwaukee, Roger, Warren, Wesley and Franklin of Arnold and Bradley who is with the armed forces in Korea; four daughters, Mary, Joan, Ingrid and Deborah, Arnold; four brothers, Helmer, Bark River, John of Arnold, Lawrence, Bark River, and Philip of Escanaba; and two sisters, Mrs. Hjalmer Carlson of Escanaba and Mrs. Andrew Paquette of Marinette.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending word from the son in Korea.

Sunken Tug Sachem Bodies Identified; One From Soo, Mich.

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (P) — Police say a body found on the Lake Erie shore south of here has been identified as that of a consulting diesel engineer who was aboard the sunken tug Sachem.

Sheriff Arthur D. Britt said the body, found Sunday, was identified yesterday as that of Hans Von Frankenstein, 56, of Winnetka, Ill.

Von Frankenstein's body was the eighth to be recovered since the Sachem went down in Lake Erie Dec. 18 with a loss of 12 crewmen.

Two other bodies found near here over the weekend also were identified as those of Sachem victims. They were those of Russell McKinney, 49, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Thomas F. Shine, 41 of Buffalo.

Blind Chicago Woman Loses Claim For Cut Of W. C. Fields Estate

LOS ANGELES — (P) — A 71-year-old blind woman, Mrs. Edith Williams of Chicago, has lost her claim for a widow's share of the $771,428 estate of Comedian W. C. Fields.

Superior Judge William R. McKay yesterday rejected her claim that she married Fields in New York on June 24, 1893.

Her claims were resisted by attorneys for the legally recognized widow, Mrs. Harriet V. Fields, 72, who said she and Fields were married in 1900 in San Francisco, and that she accompanied him on theatrical tours for several years thereafter.

Begin Potato Harvest Soon

Expect Yield Will Be 30% Under 1950

Delta county potato growers next week will begin harvesting the 1951 potato crop, with an outlook of 30 per cent decrease in production due to reduced acreage and lower yield.

Last year Delta county had approximately 2000 acres planted to potatoes. This year there was some reduction in acreage planted and because of adverse weather some planted acreages did not produce. These factors plus anticipated losses in yield because of bad weather and blight are expected to cut total production for the county by an estimated 30 per cent.

Because of the reduced production growers are being advised by J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, to be particularly careful in harvesting, handling and storage to avoid additional losses.

Gov. Williams Asks Grand Jury Quiz On Detroit Fair

ished according to law, no matter who he may be," William said.

Started In 1949

The governor's letter said that first reports of "alleged irregularity" at the fair reached him in early 1949.

He said he ordered administrative changes to be made in the fair operation "with a view to tightening the agencies auditing and accounting procedures and to closer legal supervision by the attorney general."

Roth began an investigation at that time which the governor said was continued when Millard took over as attorney general Jan. 1.

The fair is supervised by the 16-member board of managers of which Charles Figy, state agriculture director, is chairman.

James D. Friel of Detroit, who was recommended to the board by Williams, is full-time manager.

Millard said that "the fair has been under investigation and still is."

He said that the governor's "premature" letter "might tend to restrict the investigation we are now making 'because publicity might impede the investigation.'"

"He should have talked with me first," Millard said.

The attorney general said his investigators have been waiting for an audit of this year's fair "to throw light on the financial conditions."

Quits In Disgust

He added that his investigators had turned up "certain things which might lead to a grand jury."

Figy, who is the non-voting presiding officer of the fair board, said he did not wish to comment on the governor's letter, since he actually had no power in the policy-making decisions of the board.

A legislative committee began an independent investigation of the fair late this summer with a few private meetings with fair board members, but has made no report.

The board member referred to by the governor as resigning in 1950 was identified as Lester Shrader of Centerville who said at the time he was quitting because of disgust with "politics."

The governor also referred, without naming him, to Stanley Telesz, who was Friel's assistant in 1949. When he was killed in an airplane crash the following year it was revealed he had been under questioning by investigators for the attorney general's office.

Unity With Rival CIO Proposed At AFL Convention

position—that organic unity, or physical merger, had to come first.

So the crafty AFL leaders, sensing that the CIO is now in the weakest position numerically that it has been since World War II, decided to force the issue and break up the day-to-day cooperation at least at the top.

The AFL reports more than 8,000,000 paid up members, and privately claims more than a million affiliates who are getting by without paying the per capita tax.

The CIO, on the other hand, purged itself of 11 unions in 1949 and 1950, charging them with following Communist party lines instead of CIO policy. That lost the CIO an estimated one million members, and best estimates now are that the CIO probably has less than 5,000,000 members.

Murray Tired

On top of that, ailing Philip Murray has said he wants to step out of the CIO presidency. That could plunge the younger federation into a cat and dog fight over a new leader.

The CIO was formed out of several AFL unions in 1935-36 by Murray, John L. Lewis of the miners, and Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Hillman is dead. Lewis left the CIO, returned to the AFL briefly, and now is independent.

Delegates laughed at the many rumors that the big-browed miners' boss was flirting with the AFL again—because there were no indications it was true.

Green, who received his job in 1924 on the death of Samuel Gompers largely through the influence of Lewis, would like nothing better than to be instrumental in bringing the miners—and the CIO under Murray—back to the federation. Murray and Green both were Lewis lieutenants in the Miners' union 25 years ago.

Washington Bans MacArthur Bust At Treaty Signing

WASHINGTON — (P) — Rep. Stefan (R-Neb) said today the state department prohibited the exhibition of a large bronze bust of Gen. Douglas MacArthur at the recent Japanese peace conference in San Francisco.

While in San Francisco as a congressional representative at the treaty-signing meeting, Stefan said in a statement, he discovered a hand truck covered with a bedspread in the lobby of a hotel.

He looked under the bedspread, he said, and found "a large and beautiful bronze bust of the general, and also a huge bronze plaque with five stars, the profiles of MacArthur, his wife and son, and in raised letters the inscription 'To the people of Japan with prayers for an everlasting peace.'"

According to the state department, Stefan said, the bust and plaque were donated by Julius Wardsworth, a Washington, D. C. artist. Stefan identified Wardsworth as a former foreign service officer with the state department.

The bust and plaque, he said, were taken to San Francisco in July for exhibition at the opera house during the conference, but the American delegation "turned down the proposal."

Grand Rapids Bond Rally Cracks Walls

GRAND RAPIDS — (P) — Artillery explosions during the Labor Day "kickoff" rally launching the treasury's defense savings bond drive echoed today around the Houseman field area.

Numerous residents complained that the blasts, fired by a Fort Custer soldier team demonstrating infantry tactics cracked walls in their homes.

Officials of the board of education which owns Houseman field, and labor groups sponsoring the show said they would investigate the complaints.

There is only one cable between the U. S. and Asia.

He was a member of the Free Methodist church.

Street Paving Nearly Ended

Escanaba's street paving program for the 1951 season will be completed early next week. City Manager A. V. Aronson reported this morning.

Work has been completed on Fourth avenue south and the paving crew has transferred to First avenue north for the last three blocks on the 1951 paving schedule. The First avenue north project is from Stephenson avenue west.

A crew also is doing preliminary work on the Goulais Addition for 600 feet of paving scheduled for next summer and work is scheduled also on 12th avenue north. The curb will be laid on six blocks on 12th avenue north from US-2 east to Sheridan Road. Preliminary grading and gravel base also is scheduled for this fall if weather permits.

About 18 blocks of paving is scheduled for next summer.

Ridgway Invites Reds To Return For Truce Talks

cuss conditions which would guarantee uninterrupted talks by the negotiators.

Chinese Red Col. Chang Chun-sun flatly rejected the suggestion, said the meeting was ended, and headed for the door.

The belief prevailed at Allied headquarters that the Communist walkout did not signal a complete breakdown of the stalled truce talks.

A source pointed out that a final breakthrough could be called only by the highest levels of the Red or Allied commands—not by liaison officers.

The Reds broke off the higher level cease-fire talks Aug. 23 after charging that an Allied plane bombed the Kaesong neutral zone the night before. The Allies investigated and denied the charge.

The Red high command had tried in vain to resume Tuesday the full dress armistice discussions instead of the liaison talks.

But the move was saddled with a provision that the first session set up machinery to deal with a long list of Red charges, already denied by the Allies.

Ignoring the Red offer, the Allies sent Kinney, Marine Col. James C. Murray and South Korean Lt. Col. Lee Soo Young to Kaesong by helicopter to bring up the subject of conditions.

Before even entering the meeting, the Reds had notified the Allies that Red liaison officers could discuss only one thing—the time for resuming truce negotiations.
